DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-32, drawn to a composition containing fatty acids, comprising a ximenynic acid, classified in class 514, subclass 548.
- II. Claim 33, drawn to the use of ximenynic acid to effect a health benefit, classified in class 514, subclass 762.
- III. Claims 34-36, drawn to a process for the extraction and enrichment of an oil in ximenynic acid, classified in class 514, subclass 506.
- IV. Claims 37-61, drawn to the use of ximenia oil or santalum oil for example to effect satiety in mammals, classified in class 514, subclass 547.

Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process can be practiced with another product such as exercise equipment and the product can be used with another process such as for cleaning or for lubrication (see US Patent No. 6316534).

Inventions I and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the process of extraction and enrichment of an oil can not be used with a composition containing fatty acids.

Inventions I and V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process can be practiced with another product such as a diet pill and the product can be used with another process such as for cleaning.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the process of extraction and enrichment of an oil can not be used with a process to effect a health benefit.

Inventions II and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the claims of Group III do not include satiety and therefore the inventions have different functions and effects.

Inventions III and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the process of extraction and enrichment of an oil can not be used with a process to effect satiety in mammals.

A telephone call was made to Drinkle Biddle and Reath on 22 January 2006 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
